7. To access regular training opportunities to keep you informed of developments in your role.
8. To make the person with overall responsibility aware of planned visits and when they are completed.

Guidelines:

Being invited into peoples' homes puts you in a unique position. You are most likely to be their only contact with the Church. Please make their Communion as reverent and meaningful as possible and be aware of their needs.

- a) When visiting the housebound you must remember that you are there at their invitation. It is a special relationship that you have, one that includes a degree of trust on the part of the Communicants.
- b) Many housebound people are elderly, living alone and frail. We must be aware of our physical presence and use it to give confidence to the Communicant.
- c) Relationships can develop and, particularly where there is no family, you may be trusted with confidential information of the location of valuables. It is recommended that for your own protection, your parish priest be made aware of such instances.
- d) Where there are family members it is recommended that they are made aware of your role and when visits will take place.
- e) Having got to know the people you visit, do only what you feel is right and proper for their well-being and, if in doubt, consult with your parish priest or seek advice from the Safeguarding Department.
- f) If you are asked to help in any way that involves handling money (e.g. shopping, Mass intentions or donations to the parish) ensure that all money is clearly accounted for.
- g) If concerned that a person is at risk of immediate harm contact Police, Ambulance or Adult Social Care Services and advise the Parish Priest, Parish Safeguarding Representative of the action taken
- h) Make the person with overall responsibility aware of planned visits and when they are completed. Where possible volunteers should visit in pairs.
